Overview of TWC: Joyful Acts of War

Purpose:

1. To gather what we believe to be what heaven is praying, and praying with that in joy, passion, peace and confidence in Christ.
2. To pray with one heart, one mind and one voice across The Warrior Class.
3. To create reservoirs of prayer in each of our Kingdom Assignments that we can connect with now and in the future.
4. To compile our crafted prophetic intercession in one document for easy reference in prayer and devotion.
5. As a springboard for further expansion of our intercession.

Expansion:

If you feel you have an additional contribution, see the instructions on the last page of this document for how to share your insights.

Stance:

How we approach prayer means everything. While we have intentionally crafted our prayers and prayer points, intercession is an intimate, personal encounter between you and the Holy Spirit. Follow His lead. Allow Him to sort, choose and enrich your focus. Envision the TWC army you are a part of and the delight of the Father in your voice at all times. Be joyful. Remain in rest. Dream big. Smile often.

Prayer is Prayer

Graham Cooke

In my own prayer time, I usually find myself somewhere in the spiritual paradox between being amazed and frustrated, joyful and pained, confident and uncertain, anointed and unanointed. Fortunately, all of those feelings are the same to God: Prayer is prayer.

When my daughter was thirteen, she described prayer perfectly to me: “Some days, you get in the elevator and zoom to the penthouse suite. Other days, you take the stairs.” Either way, prayer is an interesting journey.

Speaking in Tongues

Speaking in tongues, for those who have the gift, is a very important part of our devotional life and relationship with God because it edifies our spirit and renews our mind. I love tongues because I can pour out my heart to God in whatever situation I’m in, even if I’m in pain or exhausted. I have an expectation that when I speak in tongues, God will break in and do something. I don’t want to use this gift unless I have expectation because I know that the two go together.

There are times when I want to have ten minutes of adoration of Jesus, where I can sit quietly and pour out my heart about how much He means to me. When we enter that time of praise, our reactions to the circumstances around us change. We begin to respond to things in a godly manner, revering Jesus. It is the opposite spirit to that which the world operates under... Praying in tongues builds up a reservoir inside of us, helping us to top off the well within. It keeps us unblocked and in communion with God.

Listening Before We Pray

Most of us don’t listen enough before we pray. When I pray, I listen immediately, just in case God tells me I can have what I asked for. Sometimes, we pray more than we need to because we never hear God say, “Yes”. Wherever we pray, whatever we pray, we must get into the habit of immediately listening.

Often, we listen best when we are reading. If that’s the case, we ought to read the Bible before an extended, set-apart time of prayer. The Holy Spirit can and will impress on us something from Scripture.

Prayer, in its simplest form, is finding out what God wants to do and then asking Him to do it. When we don't listen before we pray, we end up presenting God with options, instead of a request. Prayer is praying with God, not to God. It is praying with the answer, not to try to find one.

The Delight of Constant Prayer

The more delightfully disciplined we become in every moment of our lives, the more dialogue we will have with Him....It is a joy if we choose to see it that way. It describes a joyful routine that does our hearts good, like brushing your teeth or your first sip of coffee in the morning. All of our daily routines need to be joyful; otherwise, the stress of it can unbalance our approach to life. The Holy Spirit is so brilliant at playing the enjoyment game; it is what makes fellowship with Him a complete delight!

...The wonderful thing about prayer is that we can talk to God about anything and everything, wherever we are, whatever we're thinking or whatever we're feeling. We have the freedom to open up our spirit and go places with God. I specialize in short prayers: "Lord, help this person," I'll ask Him during the day...I keep the flow of prayer going, holding open a channel of communication between the two of us. The best way for someone to enter the secret place with God is never to leave it.

The Intercession of the Beloved Ones

As we learn to become conformed to God and His nature and be transformed in our minds and personalities, He will teach us to look beyond the natural into the supernatural realm and see the kingdom of heaven at work. It will no longer matter what life, people, or even the enemy throw at us because we will understand that God is at work all around us...

As bridal intercessors, it will be our joy and delight to pray for the goodness of God to come down so that the church can learn that we really do overcome evil with good. The Holy Spirit will give us a new strategy for prayer and perseverance, one that contains delight and laughter and is full of ardent and passionate love bathed in fresh worship and birthed out of a deeper intimacy.

As we come and petition the Lord out of this place of closeness, He will be pleased to speak His favor and blessing into our hearts. Not only will our prayers move His heart and hands, but the words we receive from Him will be like a balm of Gilead across the nations, and churches will rise up in fresh favor. The attention of the church will be taken off the enemy and put on to God.

kindness, gentleness and faithfulness that You deserve.

And in empowering grace, with one heart, one mind and one voice;

In Jesus name ~ Amen

What are YOUR prayers?

The personal prayers here are a powerful starting point.
Find one to begin with and give it your full focus for a period of time.
What are the words and phrases that resonate deeply with you.
Pray them aloud, so that your spirit hears the words!

In time, begin to craft your own prayers from your Inheritance Words, Identity Statement, Promises and Prophecies.
Or maybe you already have some.
This is a great place to include them.
